Blue Chip's Green Credentials

Blue Chip (Itheon's parent company) is in the final process of building Europe's most Energy Efficient Data Centre. This will be our 3rd and largest Data Centre in the UK - built with resilience and energy efficiency at the forefront of its design and it will come online in May 2010.

The 5 acre freehold site in Bedford will house up to 600 racks supported by the highest levels of resilience and security. The 2MW facility will be cooled by Efficient Data Centre Adiabatic Cooling with CRAC as backup and is expected to have a PUE of 1.1 which will make it the most energy efficient data centre in Europe.

Blue Chip has also become the UK's first company to benefit from the new upper level £500,000 Carbon Trust grant as well as partnering with The Marston Vale Trust to offset the carbon footprint of the new data centre.

Blue Chip are hosting a series of briefings to discuss all of the possibilities this new Data Centre can provide your business. Please let us know if you would like to reserve a place on the next briefing or visit www.bluechip.co.uk for more details.
