New Storage Resource Analysis (SRA) Service

Itheon are pleased to announce that they have recently introduced a sophisticated storage analysis and presentation solution that brings transparency and visibility to heterogeneous storage assets across the enterprise. SRA is delivered as a Software as a Service model, enabling zero disruption to ongoing operations and an immediate ROI through identification of storage reclamation candidates; more efficient storage performance tiering; elimination of configuration errors which impact compliance and resiliency; dashboard style presentation including capacity trending functionality.

“With storage growing at up to 50% per annum, SRA is an exciting new development for Itheon as it utilises a low cost SaaS model and offers customers tangible solutions to their storage operational needs without any setup and ongoing maintenance” said Graham Wood, Itheon’s Managing Director.
